The Annual Devil's Gulch Summer Solstice Ball

One year ago tonight, at the very stroke of midnight, under the full harvest moon, a fire broke out at the Bates Mansion situated next to the historical cemetery at the edge of town. Witnesses to the fire (prime suspects included) say they saw the mansion spontaneously combust into a terrifying ball of fire and, as it burned, they saw distraught ghost-like beings fly out of every window, wailing in terror...

Progression of the night's events!

- 6:00 Wanna buy a mansion? Introduction by tonight's host. Let the ceremonies begin!
- 6:15 Meet your primary suspects. Get into detective mode as you have a beverage and enjoy the appetizers.
Be prepared – anything can happen at any time!
- 6:30 First course will be served. Remember, death has no timetable!
More action – are you ready?
- 7:15 Main course will be served – but not everyone is going to be alive when they eat it!
*Have you questioned your suspects?
Perused the evidence?*
- 7:40 Auction! – are you even close to solving this?
The time is drawing near...
- 8:30 It is time for your just desserts! Juicy red strawberries... Killer is revealed!
